RUTGERS UNIVERSITY

The State University of New Jersey

'AND FOOTBALL THEN WAS BORN...'

RUTGERS pioneered American intercollegiate football in an historic game played with Princeton on November 6, 1869, on College Field, the plot of ground where the present-day Rutgers Gymnasium stands in New Brunswick.

Football in its embryonic state bore little resemblance to its modern version. Playing under primitive rules, with 25 men on each team, the original Scarlet "eleven" defeated the invading Princeton squad, 6 goals to 4.

The challenge for the first game was issued by Rutgers students, partly in hope of avenging a 40-2 baseball defeat by Princeton in 1866. The Tigers accepted the challenge and rules were drawn up. Employed in the first game were crude beginnings of such later mayhem as the flying wedge, sleepers, and the first incident of a player kicking the ball toward the wrong goal.

The above picture is a reproduction of a painting of the first game by William B. Boyd, Rutgers '32. Historical accuracy as to detail was authenticated by members of the Rutgers and Princeton teams who took part in the famous struggle.

THE RUTGERS COACHING STAFF

Harvey J. Harman, Head Coach

RUTGERS' head coach of football, Harvey Harman, is facing his eighth season at the helm of the Scarlet. Harman coached his first Rutgers team in 1938 and since then, with time out for four wartime years in the Navy, he has piloted Scarlet elevens to a brilliant record of 48 wins, 12 losses, and one tie.

Past president of the American Football Coaches Association, Harman has been associated with the gridiron sport since the age of 13, first as a player and later as a coach and administrator. His football career started at New Castle (Pa.) High School and he later played fullback at Peabody High in Pittsburgh. Entering the University of Pittsburgh in 1918, Harman immediately won a starting berth at tackle under Glenn (Pop) Warner. He was out of the starting lineup only twice in four years at Pitt and won recognition on several All-American teams.

As an undergraduate, he also won his letter in track and served as president of his junior and senior classes. Harman received his A.B. from Pitt in 1922 and launched his coaching career that Fall as head coach at Haverford College. Meanwhile, he continued his studies at Penn until he earned his master's degree in government from that institution.

Harman remained at Haverford until 1930, when he became athletic director and coach of football and track at Sewanee, the University of the South. A year later he went to Penn, where he remained as head football coach until he resigned in December, 1937. His appointment at Rutgers followed.

In 1938, his first season "On the Banks," Harman won a permanent place of honor when his gridders defeated Princeton in a famous 20-18 victory, which dedicated the present Rutgers Stadium. The only loss of his first season was to N.Y.U. and the following year, Harman's eleven lost only to Brown. Harman-coached Rutgers teams have won three of five meetings with Princeton, Rutgers' oldest grid rival.

Following the outbreak of the war, Harman laid aside his coaching togs and donned the Navy blue. He left the campus in the Spring of 1942, served as director of athletics at North Carolina Pre-Flight in Chapel Hill, was transferred to a similar post at Iowa Pre-Flight, and later saw combat duty aboard one of the Navy's largest carriers in the Pacific. He was a full commander at the time of his return to Rutgers late in 1945.

Harman, an active and popular figure in civic and religious affairs, is deacon of the Second Reformed Church of New Brunswick. He is president of the Navy V-5 Association, and a member of Kiwanis, Phi Gamma Delta, Omicron Delta Kappa, Phi Delta Kappa, and the University Club of Philadelphia.

Arthur A. Matsu, Backfield Coach

SENIOR member of the Rutgers coaching staff in tenure, Art Matsu has been in the department of athletics since 1931. He now holds the rank of associate professor in physical education. Matsu is in his sixth season as varsity backfield coach, an assignment he shares with Eddie Masavage. Art starred as a player for William and Mary in football, basketball, and track. After graduation, he served as freshman grid coach for his alma mater. Arriving at Rutgers in 1931, he was varsity assistant until 1936, coached the freshmen that year, and was back with the varsity in 1937. After another year with the frosh in 1938, Matsu served two years as director of athletic publicity. He received his present assignment on the varsity staff in 1944.

Edward S. Masavage, Backfield Coach

WIRY Eddie Masavage has been associated with Harvey Harman almost continuously since 1931, first as a player, then as a coach, later in service, and again as a member of Harman's coaching staff. Masavage played two years of varsity football under Harman at Pennsylvania, then, upon graduation in 1933, he joined Harman's staff as varsity backfield assistant and coach of Penn's 150-pound squad. He came to Rutgers with Harman in 1938 and coached the backfield until he entered the Naval Reserve in 1942. Masavage was stationed with Harman at North Carolina Pre-Flight, then went to sea aboard the aircraft carrier Essex for 18 months. Following his discharge as a lieutenant commander, Masavage returned to Rutgers to team with Art Matsu as backfield coach of the Scarlet.

Alexander Sabo, Line Coach

ONE of Fordham's famed "Seven Blocks of Granite," Al Sabo is rounding out his tenth season of coaching at Rutgers this Fall. Sabo is a "home town" athlete from New Brunswick High School. He came to Rutgers as freshman line coach following his graduation from Fordham in 1936. He worked with the varsity the following season, returned to the freshmen in 1938, and became Harman's end coach in 1940. Sabo entered the Naval Reserve in 1942, rose to the rank of lieutenant commander while serving in French Morocco, and returned to Rutgers in time for the 1946 season. Before the war, husky Al was a professional baseball catcher with the Washington Senators from 1936-1938.

Albert W. Twitchell, Line Coach

A RUTGERS football and lacrosse star of the Thirties, Al (Red) Twitchell moves up to a varsity coaching role this season, his second as full-time member of the football staff. Last season he was line coach of the Scarlet's undefeated freshman eleven and this Spring he coached the freshman lacrosse team. Twitchell began his coaching career at North Plainfield High School in 1935, following his graduation from Rutgers. In 1937, he went to Sewanhaka High School on Long Island as assistant football and lacrosse coach. Hofstra College lured him two years later and he served there as assistant football coach and director of intramural athletics. He returned to Sewanhaka later as head coach of football and lacrosse, remaining there until 1947, when he came to Rutgers as a part-time physical education instructor, assistant coach of 150-pound football, and assistant lacrosse coach.

Mike Stang, Trainer

John Powers, Custodian of Equipment

Henry Benkert, Junior Varsity Coach

ONE of Rutgers' all-time grid greats, "Heinie" Benkert was the nation's leading scorer in 1924 and rated mention on several All-American teams. He spent a number of years in pro football and high school coaching before returning to Rutgers as a coach in 1941-42.

Richard L. Voliva, 150-Pound Coach

A STAR in football, wrestling, and track at Indiana University, Dick Voliva coached those sports at Montclair Teachers College after competing in the 1936 Olympics. Entered service in 1942 and rose to the rank of major in the ETO. Came to Rutgers in 1945. Serves as varsity wrestling coach and has handled several football coaching assignments. He was 150-pound coach last year.

Otto Hill, Freshman Coach

ENTER on Harvey Harman's 1941 eleven, Otto Hill is starting his third season as a coach. Served in the Air Force following graduation and returned to Rutgers in 1946. Won football and lacrosse letters here and played football while in service. Coached the junior varsity in 1947 and 1948.

RUTGERS ATHLETIC ADMINISTRATION

George E. Little, Director of Athletics

A PROMINENT and popular figure in intercollegiate athletics for more than 30 years, George Little has compiled an enviable record as a player, coach, and an administrator. He has been in charge of Rutgers athletics since 1931. Little was graduated from Ohio Wesleyan in 1912 after a brilliant football and track career. In 1914-15, he was head coach of football and basketball, assistant track coach, and physical education director at the University of Cincinnati. He went to Miami (Ohio) University in 1916, left during the first World War to serve as an officer overseas, and returned to become director of athletics. He went to Michigan in 1922, becoming head football coach in 1924. A year later, he was appointed director of physical education and head coach of football at Wisconsin. Two years later, he resigned as coach to devote full time to administrative duties. He remained at Wisconsin until 1931, when he resigned to accept his present position at Rutgers.

Harry J. Rockafeller, Assistant Director of Athletics

GENERALLY regarded as one of the best known and popular figures associated with Scarlet athletics, "Rocky" entered Rutgers as a student in 1912. He starred in four years of varsity football, basketball, baseball, and track. After serving in the war and engaging in business for several years, he returned to his alma mater in 1924, as graduate manager of athletics. Following reorganization of the coaching staff in 1927, "Rocky" was named head coach of football. During four years, his teams won 19 and lost 16 games. In 1930, he resigned as coach to devote full time to his managerial duties. In 1932, however, he went back to coaching as mentor of the 150-pound varsity. His lightweight elevens were undefeated in 18 games and won the Eastern Intercollegiate titles in 1933, 1934, and 1935. With the advent of the war, Rockafeller returned to varsity coaching. His four wartime teams recorded 14 wins, 10 losses, and one tie.

SCARLET PLAYER SKETCHES

Ends

WILLIAM ARWAY, physical education. A sturdy wingman on last year's freshman squad and impressed during Spring practice. Starred at Woodbridge High.

ALBERT BURNETT, physical education. A senior, Burnett saw considerable action last year. Played varsity ball at Notre Dame as a soph. All-State tackle at Irvington High in 1944. Three years in Army and Merchant Marine before entering college.

PETER BUTKUS, psychology. Third season on the varsity. Fullback at Good Counsel in Newark before switching to end. Spent two years in the Navy.

HAROLD CORIZZI, physical education. Star of freshman basketball and outstanding end of 1948 undefeated frosh footballers. Extremely fast and evasive receiver.

WILLIAM HATCHETT, physical education. Already one of Rutgers' all-time greats, "Bucky" holds college records in basketball, track, and football. He's president of the senior class, first Negro to hold the position.

GEORGE RUDDY, physical education. Now in third varsity season and has seen plenty of action. Good pass receiver. Won three football letters at Rahway High.

FRED SOWICK, business administration. Starting wingman for three seasons. Great pass catcher and strong on defense. Handles the Scarlet's punting assignments.

RICHARD WACKAR, physical education. Played end in 1945, returned last season after two years in the Navy. Heavier and faster, he shows great promise on offense.

ROGER WILLIAMS, bacteriology. Saw varsity action last year as a sophomore. Won four letters as an end at Allentown, Pa., High. Good prospect this Fall.

Tackles

BURTON ARNOLD, physical education. Saw limited action in 1948 but is slated for big things this Fall. Played three years at Linden High, spent some time in the Navy. Checks in over 210 pounds.

PAUL CORRIGAN, physical education. Three-year letterman who is especially strong on the offense. Weight man in track. All-County tackle at St. Michael's High in Jersey City in 1941. Should be strong this season.

WILLIAM FAHERTY, physical education. A two-letter winner in both football and heavyweight wrestling. Improved greatly in 1948. Counted upon heavily this year.

WALTER FISHER, physical education. Outstanding tackle prospect from the frosh eleven. Big and husky. Looked good in Spring training. Top Philadelphia high school player.

STANLEY MICHAELSON, education. Second largest man on the squad, Michaelson played as a freshman but has had no varsity experience. He's from Highland Park.

OAKLEY PANDICK, physical education. Biggest man on squad at 230 pounds. Voted top Rutgers lineman by opposing players last year. Fast and agile for his size.

WILLIAM PELLINGTON, physical education. Bill played at Defiance College as freshman, transferred to Rutgers and waited a year to be eligible this season. Shows considerable promise. Was a high school player at Ramsey.

PIERRE VINET, physical education. Another top sophomore prospect. Competed in football, wrestling, and track at West High, Rockford, Ill. An even 200 pounds.

Guards

WILLIAM HOREY, physical education. Junior varsity end last year, who was converted to guard during the Spring training this year. Tough and rugged up front.

ROBERT HUBBARD, mechanical engineering. Saw limited action last Fall, but was the Scarlet's place-kicking specialist. Converted 24 extra points in 31 attempts. Son of a Rutgers gridder, he was All-South Jersey at Haddonfield High in 1945.

GERALD MALANGA, business administration. Saw limited action last year, his first on the Scarlet varsity. Built like a barrel and hard to handle. Won All-State honors at Newark West Side before the war. Played for St. Bonaventure in 1946.

WILLIAM NEBB, business administration. A Bound Brook husky with two years of varsity experience, Bill was converted from end to guard this Spring.

JERRY RAPHEL, psychology. Honor student with a Phi Beta Kappa average. Saw reserve action last year. A Pacific Marine after graduation from Boy's High, Brooklyn.

EARL READ, history. Converted two years ago from a reserve tackle to a starting guard. Quiet off the field, quick and aggressive in action. Football captain at Phillipsburg High before entering the Merchant Marine.

ROMAN RUTKOWSKI, psychology. One of a pair of good guard prospects from the undefeated freshman squad. Low-slung, but compact and sturdy. A sixty-minute player.

JOHN SCHUCK, civil engineering. Top sophomore line prospect. Big, fast, and aggressive. May win a starting assignment. Outstanding in Spring drills. Hails from Valley Stream, N. Y.

ADAM SCRUPSKI, business administration. Has three years of varsity reserve experience behind him. Won All-County honors at Irvington High. Has two Rutgers letters in wrestling.

Centers

DAVID GENKINGER, psychology. Was a bright freshman prospect two years ago but was ineligible for varsity duty in 1948. Played for Coach Harman's high school alma mater in New Castle, Pa.

JOHN KAHLE, physical education. A senior, Kahle moves up to the varsity after a big year with the jayvees. Looked good in the Spring. A Long Branch product.

FRANK KOOS, ceramics. Saw reserve action last Fall as a sophomore. Was All-State at South River High before attending Valley Forge Military Academy.

LEON ROOT, biological science. A 205-pound, line-busting fullback last year as a sophomore, Root was converted to center this Spring because of his great line-backing abilities. Was a backfield star at East Orange High School.

WILLIAM VENBERG, journalism. Moved up to the varsity last Fall after a season with the freshman eleven. Played three years at New Britain, Conn., High School.

Quarterbacks

JACK DENARDO, political science. Starred as a freshman two years ago, was sidelined by studies last Fall. Not too heavy, but a good ball handler in the T slot.

WALTER LaPRARIE, physical education. Field general of the undefeated freshmen last Fall. A good passer and signal caller who likes to mix up the defense with frequent jaunts through the line or outside. He's from Freeport, N. Y.

MICHAEL PANNUCCI, mechanical engineering. Great as a freshman and saw reserve action last Fall as a soph. Heaviest of the quarterback crop at 190. Won All-State and All-County honors at Orange High School.

ALBERT MALEKOFF, physical education. After shining as a fullback for two seasons, "Boomy" was groomed last Fall as a replacement for Quarterback Frank Burns. Only 5-7 tall, he's as rugged as they come both on offense and defense. A product of Newark, Al is a great passer and a good field general.

Left Halfbacks

BOAZ FIRKSER, physical education. Smallest man on the squad at 5-6 and 155-pounds, "Buzzy" is a good prospect as a scatback and spot player. He's a Roselle sophomore.

HERMAN HERING, physical education. The Scarlet's leading ground-gainer in 1946 and 1947, Hering was sidelined with injuries during most of the '48 campaign. A knee operation has put him in top shape again. Has a three-year average of 6.5 yards per try and has scored 143 points for the Scarlet. Starred at Roselle Park High.

GEORGE MARINKOVICH, physical education. Outstanding sophomore halfback prospect. Fast and evasive, he's untouchable in the open field. A Bethlehem, Pa., product.

HENRY PRYOR, political science. A great reserve as a freshman, Hank missed a season of action, then returned last year to replace the injured Hering. The former Columbia High gridder averaged 6.1 yards per try in 1948 and ranback 30 kicks for an average of 21.3 yards. Spent two and a half years overseas with the Marines.

Right Halfbacks

ELISHA BROWN, business administration. One of the squad's oldest members at 26, "Tops" Brown returned to the gridiron as a frosh last season after a long hitch in the Army. A slow starter, he bulls his way through the defense. Was a great high school gridder at New Brunswick before the war.

ROBERT D'AMATO, physical education. Smallest right halfback contender at 165 pounds, Bobby has plenty of speed and trickery. A native of Scotch Plains.

JOSEPH FURNARI, physical education. Converted from fullback this Spring, Furnari will take up the slack from the graduation of three right halfbacks. A Montclair High product, he has had ample experience in the Scarlet backfield.

HARVEY GRIMSLEY, physical education. A slow starter, Grimsley usually hits his stride after a few games. An ace Scarlet back for three years and pointing for his biggest season. Has a three-year average of 5.8 yards per try.

DONALD MOHR, agriculture. Working up the hard way, Mohr carried the ball for the frosh two years ago, worked with the jayvees last Fall, and is competing for a varsity role in 1949. He's from Hightstown and played for Peddie.

RONALD WARNER, physical education. Mainstay at right half for the freshmen last season, Ron was impressive in Spring training. From Crafton, Pa., he's the tallest candidate on the right side of the backfield at 6-1.

Fullbacks

MALCOLM McLAREN, ceramics engineering. Son of the great "Trampy" McLaren who starred with Coach Harman at Pitt, Mal has shown moments of brilliance during his three years on the squad. Is a leading contender in the fullback battle this Fall.

JAMES MONAHAN, physical education. Chief line-buster of the undefeated freshman eleven last Fall, Monahan was outstanding in 1949 Spring drills. The New Haven, Conn., sophomore will be the man to beat out at fullback this season.

HOWARD OTTLEY, business administration. Impressive as a freshman fullback last Fall, Ottley shaped up as a good material at the end of Spring training. The Union, N. J., sophomore may get places in action this Fall.

JOHN SABO, economics. Put on one-man gang performances as starting fullback two seasons ago but was hampered by injuries last Fall. Baseball put him back in shape this Spring. A tough competitor. Played at Newark East Side before serving a hitch in the Navy during the war.

Reinhart's 25th Anniversary of Coaching

Comdr. Bill Reinhart is celebrating his 25th anniversary in the coaching game this season. A star quarterback at Oregon for three years, Reinhart began coaching at his alma mater in 1924 after a year in business. He served as assistant grid coach and head mentor of basketball and baseball for 10 years, before coming East in 1935. The Commander was athletic director and coach of football and baseball at George Washington until he accepted an assignment with the Navy at the advent of World War II. Near the end of his Navy career, he coached the mighty Bluejacket team at Fleet City, Calif. A native of Salem, Oregon, Reinhart was appointed athletic director and football coach at Kings Point in 1946. Though hampered by a dearth of material for the past three years, Reinhart is looking for better things from a revived squad this Fall.

Kawal Will Match Rutgers' 'T'

Coach Al Kawal will be testing the Scarlet for the first time this season, his first at Temple. Former head coach at Drake, Kawal capped his last year with the Bulldogs by grabbing second place in the Missouri Valley Conference with seven wins in ten games, including a 14-13 triumph over Arizona in the Salad Bowl. Before going to Drake, he was assistant coach at both Michigan State and Boston U. A native of Chicago, Kawal was the first Big Ten athlete to captain both the basketball and football teams during his senior year at Northwestern. Al will match Rutgers' T with a T formation of his own, which the Owls are using for the first time this season.

HISTORY OF RUTGERS—1766-1949

Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey, began as a struggling colonial college before the Revolution. Founded in 1766 by Dutch pioneers, Rutgers was originally called Queens College under a charter from King George III of England. The young college's existence was threatened by the Revolution, but growth followed that conflict, just as unprecedented expansion was experienced after the last World War.

Rutgers was given its present name in 1825, after generous gifts had been received from Colonel Henry Rutgers, a New York philanthropist. Forty years later it was designated the Land Grant College of New Jersey, the liberal arts course was enlarged, and courses leading to bachelor degrees in agriculture and engineering were added.

In 1902 a ceramics department was established. New Jersey College for Women, with its own New Brunswick campus, was founded in 1918; the School of Education added in 1923; and in 1925 the Extension Division for non-degree education and the School of Journalism were established. The College of Pharmacy was added in 1927. University College, degree-granting evening division, was established in 1934, and Newark University was merged with Rutgers in 1946. In 1945, the State Legislature brought all divisions of Rutgers within the designation of the State University of New Jersey.

About A New Syracuse Freshman

Floyd (Ben) Schwartzwalder is in his first year as head coach of Syracuse football after a highly successful grid venture at Muhlenberg, where his teams won 25 of 30 games during the past three years. Though only 152 pounds, "Ben" played center at West Virginia, where he was graduated in 1933. His coaching was confined to high school gridirons before the war. Schwartzwalder was a paratrooper in Europe during the war, jumping at Normandy, in the Battle of the Bulge, and over the Rhine. He was one of 25 survivors of an outfit of more than 250. A hard-fighting and aggressive competitor, he inspires his teams with his own qualities. On the gridiron, he uses variations of the winged-T offense and likes a fast, tricky attack, studded with plenty of passing.

THE MIDDLE THREE CANNON

Cannons have been part of Rutgers tradition since the Revolutionary War. It was nurtured by the bitter "Cannon War" waged between Rutgers and Princeton students during the 19th Century. The Little Brass Cannon, which salutes every Rutgers touchdown from the sidelines, is the latest addition to the cannon traditions. Given to the University in 1931, it has been the symbol of Middle-Three supremacy on the gridiron since 1940. Lafayette won the Cannon the first year it was on the block and held it until 1945, when the Scarlet retrieved it. Wins over Lehigh and Lafayette have kept it On the Banks ever since. Lehigh has not won the Cannon since it was offered.

Bixler Has Good Raider Crop

Paul Bixler, former head coach at Ohio State, is in his third season at the helm of the Red Raiders. A graduate of Mount Union College in 1929, Bixler started his coaching career in Ohio, moved to Akron University where he spent two years as assistant in football and head coach of basketball. In 1939, he came to Colgate as basketball coach, freshman line coach and scout. He moved to Ohio State in 1941 to serve as scout and became chief of staff in the famous Ohio State internal shift in 1945. Bixler left the Buckeyes to accept his present position. He faces the 1949 season with two successive strong freshman teams at maturity.

Clipper's Back From Pro Ranks

Maurice "Clipper" Smith is back in college coaching after two years at the helm of the Boston Yanks of pro football. A Knute Rockne product of Notre Dame, Clipper turned out several undefeated teams during his seven years as head coach at Villanova. Other coaching stints were spent at Santa Clara, Gonzaga, and the University of San Francisco. With the loss of only a handful of players from last year's strong squad, which lost only to Rutgers and Army, Smith looks forward to an interesting season.

'Hook' Mylin An Old Rutgers Foe

Edward E. "Hook" Mylin, whose Lafayette teams once were the nemesis of Rutgers, is in his third year as head coach at N.Y.U. Though the Violets have managed only five wins in the past two campaigns, Mylin is noted for a long and successful coaching career. After ten years at Lebanon Valley, beginning in 1923, he went to Bucknell from 1934-36, where he led his charges to a 26-0 win over Miami in the Orange Bowl. In 1937, his first season at Lafayette, he posted an undefeated record and was named "Coach of the Year." Except for three years in service during the war, he remained with the Marquis until the winter of 1946, when he succeeded Jack Weinheimer as head coach of N.Y.U.

'Big Ed' Promises Big Things

Edward F. Danowski starred at halfback for Fordham under the Iron Major, Frank Cavanaugh, in the early Thirties and was captain of Jim Crowley's first Ram team in 1933. After graduation, he played with the pro football Giants from 1934 through 1939, completing 307 of 645 passing attempts. Retiring from active playing as one of pro football's immortals, he entered service and rose to the rank of Lt. Commander by the time he was discharged in 1945. In 1946, he returned to Rose Hill. Reports are that he has been building for this season.

THE SCARLET'S HOME GROUNDS

Rutgers Stadium is the heart of a million-dollar athletic plant situated on the University Heights campus. The Stadium area embraces 270 acres of gently rolling hills. Facilities include a nine-hole golf course, several baseball diamonds, six playing fields, and two practice gridirons.

The Stadium seats 23,000. The field is of turtle-back construction and is surrounded by a track modeled after the Los Angeles Olympic oval. One of the nation's best tracks, it has eight lanes on the curves and backstretch, with a 12-lane, 220-yard straightaway.

Stands are of reinforced concrete with wooden seats. A modern field house runs the length of the East stands and contains dressing rooms and offices. A well-equipped press box crowns the West stands, providing for more than 100 writers with telegraph and telephone service. Both ends of the press box have glass enclosed broadcasting booths, topped by photographers' platforms.

RUTGERS FOOTBALL FACTS

Rutgers Color—Scarlet.

Rutgers Nicknames—The Scarlet, The Queensmen.

Rutgers All-Americans—Rutgers has produced two All-Americans during its 80 years of intercollegiate football, Paul Robeson and Homer Hazel. Robeson, one of the greatest of all Negro athletes, was named an All-American end by Walter Camp in 1918. Hazel won similar fame as an end in 1923 and as fullback in 1924. In selecting Hazel, Walter Camp said: "Hazel would be All-American at any position."

Best Rutgers Record—The Scarlet of 1947, coached by Harvey Harman, won eight of its nine games, losing only the opener to Columbia.

Worst Rutgers Record—The 1901 team lost all seven games played that season.

Longest Rutgers Winning Streak—The longest unbroken string of Rutgers victories began after the 25-6 defeat by N.Y.U. in mid-season of 1938. Five straight triumphs followed, and in 1939, the unblemished string was extended to 13 before Brown toppled the Scarlet in the season's finale, 13-0. The record includes a scoreless tie with Richmond in 1939.

Oldest Rutgers Rival—Rutgers' oldest football rivalry is with Princeton, dating back to America's first intercollegiate football game in 1869. Football relations were inaugurated with Columbia the following year. Rutgers has met Lehigh more than any other rival. With 47 games in the series, Rutgers holds an edge over the Engineers with 26 victories, 20 losses, and one tie. Lafayette and Rutgers have met on 44 occasions, Lafayette winning 26, losing 17, and tying one.

Fastest Man on the Squad—End William (Bucky) Hatchett rates the nod as the team's fastest. A basketball and track star, Hatchett holds the Scarlet record in the 220-yard high hurdles and last year, when dressed in football togs, could outrace sprint star Dick Cramer, who recorded 9.9 for the century.

Largest Man on the Squad—Tackle Oakley Pandick. "Little Oakley's" playing weight ranges between 220 and 230. He usually checks in for pre-season practice close to the 250 mark, but comes down rapidly to 230. Distributing his weight over a 6-2 frame, Pandick belies his bulk in speed and agility.

Rutgers Captain—Game captains are appointed by Coach Harvey Harman prior to each contest. At the end of the season, the squad elects an honorary captain for the past season. Frank Burns, All-Eastern quarterback last year and presently assistant coach of the Scarlet freshmen, was accorded this honor at the close of the 1948 campaign.

Rutgers Mascot—The team's mascot is an Irish Setter, named Big Red, which was presented to the squad two years ago by the Touchdown Club of New Brunswick.

Rutgers Training Camp—Rutgers annually spends three weeks of pre-season training at the New Jersey National Guard Camp at Sea Girt, on the Jersey shore.

Rutgers Football Office—Located off the left side of the foyer on the ground floor of the Rutgers Gymnasium on College Avenue in New Brunswick.
